

4 YEARS

FROM 2013 TO 2017

Centre
Virchow-Villermé

The Centre Virchow-Villermé for Public Health Paris-Berlin (C V V) was created in 2013 to respond to public and global health challenges in France, Germany and beyond by offering a bi-national platform linking research with policy.

The CVV is pursuing its mission to jointly develop and promote innovative education, to conduct research and to make recommendations on relevant public health issues.

R E S E A R C H

The Centre promotes interdisciplinary research projects in such fields as: Public and Global Health, Statistics, Communication, History, Demography, Gender.

MOOCs & Open science	Challenges of aging
Climate change & health	Neuroepidemiology
Migrants & refugees health	Tobacco control & social inequality
Nutrition	Health ranking

MOOCs

The CVV is developing internet-based and freely accessible online courses, so-called MOOCs (Massive Open Online Courses):

20 MOOCs produced and broadcasted

7 invited professors (Sanofi Chair)

6 MOOCs in production process

58 862 participants

EVENTS

The CVV contributes to advocating public and global health through frequent events, among which:

6 French-German workshops on global health

4 sessions organized at World Health Summit

2 side-events at COP21 and 22

2 summer schools

9 lunch seminars organized with Hospinomics and URC Eco

NETWORK

The CVV has initiated a number of partnerships and continues to develop its international network, including:

Lancet Countdown: tracking progress on health and climate change

Institute of Global Health, University of Geneva

Institute for Public Health, University of Heidelberg

Robert Koch Institute

Centre for health research of Nouna

Institut Pasteur

Politics of the Earth, University Sorbonne Paris Cité

Harvard TH Chan School of Public Health

London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine

Université Cadi Ayad, Marrakech